The most prominent reason for his almost unprecedented success was that the House, having confidence in his integrity deal of the worst kind of demagogism racy was altitle purer and better than it is at as well as in the ability and earnest work of the committee, did not call upon him for the details regarding the bills reported.

THE House of Representatives yesterday virtually said by its action upon the Mormon question that it was willing to sit with Apostle Cannon during the balance of this Congress as a peer, but that thereafter he might take good notice that there will no chance there for either bigamists or polygamists. There was, doubtless, some misapprehension as to the purport of Mr. Burrow's resolution calling upon the Committee on Elections for a report, or the motion would have carried. But this is not the last of it. The opponents of polygamy are determined to give the Republicans in the House still another chance to redeem their pledges, and wipe from their escutcheons the foul stains of cowardice and
